"Formerly the signs of the zodiac were not depicted in animal forms, but each sign was made to represent a particular part of man --- the head in the Ram, the region of the throat in the Bull, the arms expressing symmetry in the Twins, the cage of the ribs in Cancer, the heart in the Lion, and so on until one reaches the lower part of the legs in Waterman and the feet in the Fishes. Imagine a zodiac as the form of man inscribed in the cosmos. Then you will have a picture of the rudimentary parts of the human body as they were created by the power of the Thrones, Seraphim and Cherubim. That is the great cosmic man found in the myths of the world throughout the ages..."
